- Note:
- All of the transformers are removable and transferrable in case of moving or replacing the target of the items. However, rotating devices on a short-term basis between residence, office, car, etc., is counterproductive.
 - Based on our experience with bioresonance testing and clinical observations, our instructions concerning the installation of residence or office units on circuit breakers have indicated an even higher effectiveness than the ones provided by the company. All of our customers will receive our instructions.
 - The installation process is extremely simple and can be completed by a non-electrician within one minute's time.
